Collaborative Audience Development Plan for the North West

The culture departments of Donegal County Council (DCC) and Derry City & Strabane District Council (DCSDC) came together to commission an audience development baseline survey and programme across the North West to understand and increase the engagement of citizens in the area in arts, culture and heritage. There were 2 distinct parts to the project: gathering and analysing the data and research, and the co-design of the audience development programme to address the engagement gaps.

Data and Research

Methods included:

1. Face to face survey of residents

A face to face survey of 2,400 residents across DCC and DCSDC was carried out in 2019. The survey looked at the following with regard to participating in culture, arts and heritage:

- Who is and is not attending or participating
- Where current core markets live
- Attitudes to the importance of arts, culture and heritage

2. Mosaic Profiling

This segmentation programme, created by Experian, allowed an analysis of the types of people living in the North West area.

3. Analysis of existing data on audience behaviours

The data that many arts, culture and heritage organisations already held helped us expand on what the baseline told us.

Findings

98% of residents in the North West engaged in arts, culture or heritage in the past year, with 26% of North West residents crossing the border to engage in culture.

However, those aged 65+ attended and participated less than average; access was an issue; and, given the profile of the North West, families could be targeted to promote more engagement.

We are currently working on a plan with DCSDC and a range of cultural partners focusing on increasing audience participation with families and older people across the North West, incorporating accessibility across the board including the elements listed below.

Families

- Online platform to promote cultural events and activities in the North West Region
- Family programme over the summer months
- Accreditation scheme – including online and offline accessibility
- Playful venues
- Family panel

Older people

- Culturally specific Older People Panel
- Work with the Age Friendly Officers
- Accessibility Audits
- Extension of Bealtaine Festival and other festivals
- Cultural companions

Age & Opportunity

The Archives Service has uploaded more of its Decade of Centenaries archives to its website and these are now available to view free of charge. The Ballyshannon Town Commissioner's volume containing its minutes of meetings spans the years 1896 to 1923. There were ten Rural District Councils (RDCs) in County Donegal from 1899 to 1925. Minutes of meetings from Ballyshannon, Dunfanaghy, Donegal, Inishowen, Glenties, Letterkenny, Milford, Strabane No. 2 (actually Lifford) and Londonderry No. 2 (parts of south Inishowen), dating from about 1915 to 1918 have all been uploaded for viewing. The years from 1918 - 1925 will be uploaded later this year. The 1916 minutes of the meetings of the Boards of Guardians (who ran Donegal's workhouses) are also available to view. ## Music for Care Homes Programme

As part of the Keep Well Campaign in Donegal, the Arts Service and the Donegal Age Friendly Programme will offer a series of music, song and dance performances for residents of the county's residential care homes, over the months of March, April and May. A panel of experienced musicians, singers and entertainers has been assembled to deliver the series, which will involve up to twenty performances happening in thirteen longterm residential care homes across the five Municipal Districts.

The project continues the engagement by Donegal County Council, through the Culture Division and the Age Friendly Programme, with older people since the start of the current COVID-19 public health restrictions.

In consultations with the care homes, many of the residents expressed a particular likeness for Irish Traditional and for country music, so the series will respond to that need, as well as catering for other musical tastes and forms of entertainment. The care home presentations will be of the highest professional standards and will be delivered in a warm, informal style to facilitate maximum engagement between performers and audience.

The performances can take place indoors or outdoors, as the ongoing COVID-19 situation dictates.

Living in Donegal Virtual Exhibition

Living in Donegal is a Peace IV funded socially engaged exhibition project produced by the RCC and starring twenty-seven people, who live in County Donegal.

It features a snapshot of the lives and stories of these individuals in 2020. Some were born in Ireland, have a parent or parents from another country, migrated here as young children or came to Ireland as adults.

Each person has been chosen because they are making a positive contribution to life in Donegal in many different ways; from sports to music, from food to art.

The exhibition launches on March 25 and will be available to visit: click here.

St. Patrick's Day Online Festival

The RCC and Letterkenny Chamber of Commerce are delighted to present a virtual St. Patrick's Day celebration that will invite a worldwide audience into the Cathedral town.

The online celebration will feature a host of Donegal's top musical talents, Irish dancers and a late night live-streamed after party. We're also delighted to have great support from Highland Radio, who will broadcast the concert live on the airwaves from 8pm.

County Donegal is extremely lucky to boast such a wealth of fantastic musicians and this year's celebration will feature professionally-filmed live sets from Goats Don't Shave, Tanya McCole, Megan Nic Ruairí, Brendan Quinn, Seamus McGuire & Steve Cooney, Martin Orr and Sailor Bill.
